

Thank you for reading this!

We are in the fight for life because we are pro-love. We believe in the dignity, value and worth of EVERY human life, from conception to natural death and this includes the lives of abortion industry workers. We believe that the grace of God extends to all persons and that no one is beyond the power of conversion. We believe that abortion strips women of their dignity and degrades us. We believe that motherhood is empowering. We believe that justice is for every human being on this earth. We are redefining the pro-life movement.

MISSION

To provide financial, emotional, spiritual and legal support to anyone wishing to leave the abortion industry.

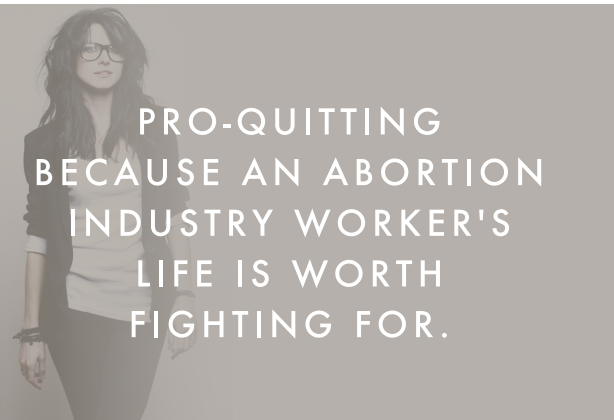

VISION

No abortion clinic workers, no abortion clinics, no abortions. It starts with the workers.

AND THEN THERE WERE NONE (ATTWN) is a non-profit corporation based in Austin, Texas that provides support for abortion industry workers who wish to leave their jobs. We don't always know what led them to work there but one thing is for certain, no one grew up wanting to work in the abortion industry and we want to help them out. We are a national ministry that serves all fifty states and can provide some limited assistance to workers in countries outside the United States.

ATTWN was founded by former Planned Parenthood director, Abby Johnson. Many abortion industry workers find themselves trapped in jobs that conflict with their morals but they feel as though they cannot leave due to personal financial constraints. Many cannot afford to quit their jobs and live without a paycheck while pursuing a new career. As a result, the gap between an uncomfortable job and another career path may be financially unbearable.

We are the only ministry providing this comprehensive support for former abortion workers and abortion providing doctors. To date, ATTWN has assisted over 300 abortion workers leave the industry; including 7 full time abortion providing doctors who now advocate for life. We have seen multiple abortion facilities close as a direct result of these workers leaving their clinics and exposing the conditions inside the abortion industry.

Our ministry provides the following:

- Emotional support as often as needed during the transition time.
- A spiritual advisor of the former worker's choosing.
- Legal counsel who will protect the interests of a worker at no cost to them.
- Transitional financial assistance after a worker resigns.
- Intensive, personal assistance during and after their transition out of the abortion industry.
- Healing retreats specifically tailored to meet the needs of former abortion industry workers.
- A professional resume writer helps to construct an impressionable, positive resume and offers job search tips.
- An organized team of over 200 intercessors who pray for the specific needs of former and undecided workers.

How we reach the clinic workers

Sidewalk counselors are trained then periodically stationed at abortion facilities to reach out to workers in a calm and inviting manner in order to establish direct personal lines of communication.

Strategically place billboards and other mass communication outlets that will be seen by workers.

Twice a year, an informal and informational mailout is sent to every abortion clinic in the country detailing the services we provide.

Experience dictates that some workers will reach out to ATTWN because they have heard of our ministry through word of mouth. In addition, various pro-life groups have expressed a willingness to help spread the message of our ministry to current and former clinic workers.

Team of people who mail in hand written letters to every abortion clinic nationwide with encouraging messages and words of hope that include ATTWN's information.
